

REVEAL GRAFT IN NEW FORMS

Witness in "Building Trust" Hearings Tells of Paying Immense
Sums for "Strike Insurance"

ADVICE ALSO COSTLY

Hearing as an Interested Spectator, for Short Time

New York, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press)—After another two-day session with Mayor Hylan, the joint legislative committee today began the "building trust" hearing, testimony alleging the payment of $100,000 in a building contract to Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council for "strike insurance."

Testimony by Hugh S. Robertson of Todd, Irons and Robertson, that he had paid this amount as part payment on an agreement to pay the leader $100,000 for protection against strikes, came as a startling climax to the afternoon session of the committee which went the greater part of the day probing into the city's school limestone contracts.

Hylan Seeks Exoneration.

Despite protests by Samuel Untermyer, the committee's counsel, that Mayor Hylan was trying to turn the hearing into a "circus" and "this orderly investigation into a general bazaar," the mayor persisted throughout the session in trying to get a letter before the committee exonerating him of responsibility for having the school building contracts changed from terra cotta to limestone. Failing in this, the mayor gave the letter to newspapers for publication.

Many times the committee's hearing was interrupted by scenes of unbridled disorder in which the spectators jammed the room participated, expressing their disapproval of the committee's ruling at one time with a storm of hissing.

When the demonstrations became violent, Mr. Untermyer called for enough "sergeants at arms to preserve order" and "bring before the bar of the committee for proper discipline" and to exclude from the room people who indulge in demonstrations which cannot be tolerated.

New Form of Graft.

The testimony of Robertson, whose concern has building contracts for the Cunard pier terminals in New Jersey, a project involving between $35,000,000 and $50,000,000, revealed a new form of alleged graft, as the builder said he paid the money, not merely for insurance against strikes, but for "a lot of information as to future labor conditions."

Robertson testified he had agreed to pay Brindell a total of $50,000 for his protection and advice and made the first payment of $20,000 on March 22. Following a dinner with the labor leader in the Commodore hotel, he said that he placed the money in $500 and $1,000 bills on the seat of an automobile in which they were riding, saying, "that's your first payment on account."

About May 7, after another dinner with Brindell, the witness said he rode around the block with the labor leader and left $15,000 on the seat when he left the machine. The third payment of $15,000 he said was made May 14, on the first floor of the Guaranty Trust building. Two more payments of $15,000 each Robertson added, were made to Brindell in September and October after a ride around the block and a meal dinner.

"You are about $15,000 shy yet," suggested Mr. Untermyer.

"Yes," replied the witness.

"Are you going to stay shy?"

"I hope so."

Sought Brindell's Friendship.

Robertson said the checks drawn to furnish the cash for Brindell had been changed to "preliminary expenses" and that the amounts were added to the contract figures.

"The people that put up the building foot the bill," asked Senator Lockwood, chairman of the committee.

"Yes," replied the witness.

When asked why he had sought the friendship of Brindell, Robertson said: "I realized that Brindell was quite a power in the labor world and I wanted to get his friendship. I mentioned the fact that we had this big dock coming along and invited him to look at the plans."

It was while viewing the plans, the witness said, that Brindell suggested how it would be a wonderful thing if strike insurance could be gotten so that there wouldn't be any strike on the job.

With the view of getting protection on the Cunard job, Robertson said he negotiated with Brindell, whom he explained had "given him a great deal of information."

IGNORE RED CROSS APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Until Organization Does "Its Duty
by Ireland," Central Federated Union to Withhold Support

New York, Nov. 12.—The Central Federated Union, at its weekly meeting tonight, voted unanimously to ignore an appeal for aid from the American Red Cross, after John Sullivan, treasurer of the union, and other speakers urged the delegates to withhold their support until the organization "does its duty by Ireland."

A letter from Miss Elizabeth A. Cullen, associate director of the Red Cross, describing its membership enrollment campaign and asking aid of $50,000 men represented by the union, was hissed. Letters received by delegates from friends in Ireland, a listing of conditions there, were read to the delegates, who thereupon voted against extending assistance to the Red Cross.

Ernest Bohm, secretary of the union, expressed the opinion that a movement to withhold support of labor from the American Red Cross would become nation wide and would continue until the organization sent food and supplies to Ireland.

Sullivan stirred the gathering when he said:

"I think it is the sentiment of this body as well as the sentiment generally among the 300,000 or more union men in this city that no aid shall be extended to the Red Cross until that organization does its duty by Ireland. We have read reports of how they have aided the distressed people of Armenia, destitute people of Czechoslovakia and the starving inhabitants of Jugo-Slavia, but we have not read a line about their aiding the wounded and sick in Ireland."

Sullivan declared that a survey made by himself and other labor leaders among union men in the city as regards sentiment for the organization "leads us to believe that the working man is much disappointed in the Red Cross."

"It appears that the American Red Cross," he said, "has been blind to conditions in Ireland. We have no knowledge that they have ever sent one bandage to that country, where hundreds are being injured daily and other hundreds being made destitute and homeless."

A resolution also was passed calling upon organized labor in New York to resist every attempt to reduce wages, increase hours of labor or the return to the piece work system. It requested the executive council of the American Federation of Labor now meeting in Washington, to provide a defense fund through assessments on labor throughout the country.

The fund, if collected by this method, it was estimated, would amount to between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000, and would be used to fight prewar conditions.

started with the opening of the hearing, when the mayor insisted upon reading a statement to the committee which contained a letter to the mayor sent today by C. E. J. Snyder, superintendent of buildings of the board of education. This letter showed that the plan to switch from terra cotta to limestone for school buildings had been reached a month before the letter prepared by John T. Hettrick, alleged promoter of the limestone ring, had sent out over the mayor's signature, was received.

Mr. Untermyer declared the mayor was interrupting the proceedings with "immaterial and incompetent matter" and if he was permitted to read something else's letter to him he would do "incalculable injury."

"This word fairness is overdone," injected Mr. Untermyer, adding that the mayor had had his way long enough, stating that Dr. Snyder would be called for examination and "give the truth."

"I'm going to give Mr. Snyder's letter out right now," retorted the mayor, who already had copies distributed to the newspaper men.

"Then you do a very grave and a very indecent thing, and you ought to be ashamed of yourself," said Mr. Untermyer, who then declined to permit Corporation Counsel O'Brien, who had come to the assistance of the mayor to ask questions.

Suppresses Mayor's Insistence.

"Sit down and write them out, if you want to," snapped the committee's counsel, who was supported in all his suggestions by Senator Lockwood's rulings.

The hearing then ran smoothly until Mayor Hylan attempted to question Superintendent Snyder, who took the witness stand and testified that limestone had been substituted for terra cotta in school buildings because it was "best suited for the work," and Mr. Untermyer objected.

When the mayor demanded the right to ask questions as "mayor of the city," Mr. Untermyer replied that the mayor has no more right than any other citizen before this state legislative committee.

"If there is a covert attack on me, I have the right to come and defend myself and ask questions to bring out the truth," added the mayor, whose remarks were greeted with applause.

The mayor was finally excused as a witness until next Wednesday, when the committee resumes its hearing.

BASEBALL WAR IS CONCLUDED

Each Side Concedes Certain Points to Other in Accepting Mutual
Reorganization Plan

LANDIS IS DICTATOR

As Chairman of Baseball, Judge
Landis Will Receive an Annual Stipend of $42,500

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The baseball war between the two sides has been concluded. Each side has conceded certain points to the other in accepting the reorganization of professional baseball control.

After a three-hour session, the representatives of the 16 major league teams unanimously accepted Judge Landis as chairman of the league's reorganization, but did away with the old plan proposed by the Lasker plan, voting instead that Judge Landis should be a committee of one in complete charge of the administration of the league's affairs.

Judge Landis immediately accepted the position but stipulated that he would remain on the federal district bench and hold both positions. Judge Landis' salary as chairman of baseball will be $42,500 a year and he also will receive $7,500 a year as federal judge, giving him an annual stipend of $50,000. Originally he was offered $55,000 as baseball chairman, but it was reduced by the amount he receives as judge.

The fundamental principles of the Lasker plan of reorganization were agreed to by President Johnson, and the Philadelphia, Washington, Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis American league clubs, which sided with President Johnson in opposing the Lasker plan.

After the meeting the magnates came out arm in arm and a majority of them proceeded to Judge Landis' chambers to inform him of their decision.

"We've made a real peace—one that will last," was the comment of President Veech of the Chicago National league club, as the meeting broke up.

"The full details of the reorganization have not been settled, of course, but we expect to issue a formal statement soon telling all about it. It's enough to say now that the war is over and every one of us is mighty glad of it."

Today's meeting was arranged at the minor leagues' convention in Kansas City a few days after the 11 clubs favoring the Lasker plan had formed a new 12-club league, which now automatically is thrown out of existence. It was arranged when the club owners saw that they apparently did not differ in their fundamental ideas of reorganization—a fact brought out before the minor leagues in addresses by representatives of both sides.

Long a Baseball Fan.

Judge Landis is a national figure, for the important cases he has passed upon and his wit and sarcasm, sometimes humorous and sometimes caustic, which he directs at prisoners and counsel from his bench, have made him famous. Baseball always has been one of his hobbies. In the little town of Legonsport, Ind., where he was reared, the Judge played on amateur and semi-professional teams. His brilliant playing brought him many offers to turn professional, but he always declined, saying he played merely for sport and love of the game.

In 1914 Judge Landis presided in the legal battle which resulted from the greatest baseball war in history—the fight of the Federal league against the National and American leagues. The Judge never rendered a decision in this case, however, for it was settled out of court while he was still forming his official opinion.

Judge Landis awards major league games every year, and seldom makes a world series. At the annual fall classic he generally may be found in a box back of third base, his old slouch hat pulled down over his eyes during the game and a long black cape falling from his shoulders. He never talks during a game, but studies every play closely, but enjoys analyzing the strategy used by the opposing players. One of his hobbies as a judge is to try to guess the next hit.

Keeps Magnates in Waiting.

Judge Landis was hearing a case today in which $14,000 in damages was claimed by a committee of club owners against the magnates. As the magnates filed into the court room, Judge Landis gave every year and seldom makes a world series. At the annual fall classic he generally may be found in a box back of third base, his old slouch hat pulled down over his eyes during the game and a long black cape falling from his shoulders. He never talks during a game, but studies every play closely, but enjoys analyzing the strategy used by the opposing players. One of his hobbies as a judge is to try to guess the next hit.

At first the Judge refused the offer on the ground that he "loves his position as judge" too much to quit baseball as judge. It was agreed that he should receive $42,500 a year, instead of the $50,000 originally offered.

POLITICS HINTED IN SHIPPING QUIZ

Witnesses Are Asked if Government Suffered Any Loss Through
"Political Influence"

New York, Nov. 12.—Alleged "political influence" previously referred to in testimony and reports before the House committee now investigating affairs of the United States Shipping board, was again touched upon in testimony presented here today.

Comptroller Samuel M. Foster, questioned by John T. McAdoo, deputy chief of the board's bureau of investigation, testified that there has been no loss to the government through "political influence" presented here today.

Asked if there had been any complaint of such influence, the witness said he had heard some criticism of William G. McAdoo, after he had resigned office of the secretary of the board. It was charged, on either side of the witness added, that McAdoo had appeared before the board on behalf of the Morse interests.

"I do not want to be misunderstood," the witness continued. "That it is even inferred that Mr. McAdoo has interfered with or been harmful to the board in any way. He explained he was trying to get to the heart of the matter, and also said that while most of the investigations of his department had been of the activities of minor employees, his department had not overlooked 'officials'."

He added that they have gone very high in the board's personnel. He repeated previous testimony that no irregularities had been discovered among the board's officers. References were made, however, to department heads—particularly in southern district shipyards, where dismissals had taken place at this recommendations, one of these dismissals was brought about, he said, by what he termed undue and unnecessary delay as well as exorbitant expense in repairs to a wooden ship. The federal repair bill on this ship, he said, amounted to fully $200,000 and the ship could not be sold today for $75,000.

Going into the details of alleged graft among ship officers, he related details of a case on the steamship Dio. On this ship, he testified, three of its officers, including the captain, had managed to conceal the presence of 100 tons of fuel oil when it arrived from Rotterdam. At Norfolk, more oil was taken aboard for a voyage to Rio de Janeiro. At this point, the officers paid for the delivery of 1,000 tons of oil, the witness asserted, but through connivance with an employee of an oil delivery company, only 600 tons were delivered.

OPPOSE ST. LAWRENCE CANAL

New York State Waterways Association
Goes on Record Against Project.

Buffalo, Nov. 12.—The New York State Waterways association at the closing of its eleventh annual convention here today, went on record as being unalterably opposed to the St. Lawrence ship canal project. The resolution voicing the association's position said in effect:

"The association is opposed to the expenditure of money raised by taxation of the American people except for matters entirely within the jurisdiction and control of the United States. The proposed St. Lawrence canal and power project is economically impracticable and no returns in the form of benefits at all commensurate with the necessary expenditure can be expected from it and for these reasons the association is opposed to the project."

Five Original Hunger Strikers End Their Fast on Ninety-Fourth Day of Strike

Cork, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press)—The hunger strike of the nine Irish prisoners in the Cork jail was called off today, the 94th day of the strike.

This was revealed when a message received by Lord Mayor of Corkman from Arthur Griffin, founder of the Sinn Fein organization, was given out. "I am of the opinion," read the message, "that our countrymen in the Cork prison have sufficiently proved their devotion and spirit, and that they should now be released from the prison for the good of the country."

The men were reported today, in a moderately low state.

The announcement of the receipt of the Griffin letter closely followed an appeal made by Bishop Cullen, of Cork, that there be a cessation of the strike, which he declared would only be a waste of lives.

Now that the strike is being called off, it is being administered to the nine men, it was said at the prison this evening.

London, Ireland, Nov. 12.—A statement issued tonight at Dublin castle said the hunger strikers in Cork jail, who had been without food since August 17, resumed taking nourishment at 11 o'clock this afternoon with an endorsement of unfavorable symptoms.

The meal, the statement said, administered under the direction of medical officers of the jail, who believed that with careful treatment the prisoners ultimately will recover.

HARDING AVOIDS FOREIGN VISITS

President-Elect Has Been Invited to Venezuela and Colombia on His Panama Trip

QUITS TARPON SPORT

Cold, Damp Norther Drives Harding from Gulf to Muddy Gulf
Links at Brownsville

Point Isabel, Texas, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press)—President-elect Harding, who came to Point Isabel on his way to Panama, has decided to delay his voyage to Panama. He will speak at a luncheon of the New Orleans chapter of Commerce and is expected to discuss in particular the economic possibilities and requirements of the new south and the needs for a national industrial policy influenced by sectional interests.

Many invitations to speak at other places in the south and southwest have come to the President-elect, but he is declining all of them. Leaving Brownsville at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning on a special train, he will try to avoid near platform speeches on the way northward along the Gulf coast and by a fast run will reach New Orleans Thursday morning. His steamer sails that afternoon.

Senator Harding's decision to accept the New Orleans speaking invitation means that, in conformance with his oft-repeated ambition to obliterate sectionalism, his first three formal addresses as president-elect are to be delivered within the territory of the old confederacy and in states that long have been pillars of the Democratic solid south.

The first of these addresses was delivered in Brownsville, Texas, yesterday, and the third has been scheduled for December 5, at Bedford, Va. Speeches outside American territory are to be avoided, and Mr. Harding indicated that he did not expect during his Panama trip, to go within the boundaries or waters of any foreign country. Among other invitations he has received one from Preston McGoodwin, American ambassador to Venezuela, asking that he go to Venezuela and Colombia and during his stay here he has been asked informally several times to pay a visit to Northern Mexico. He is said by those close to him to feel that such visits at the present time would be inadvisable.

The exact time of Mr. Harding's departure from Point Isabel has not been fixed. On Tuesday he is to go into Brownsville to exchange greetings with Governor Hobby of Texas, and he may spend the night there, to avoid an early morning motor ride to catch his train at 10 o'clock the next morning. It is considered more likely, however, that he will come back here for the night.

Most of today the President-elect devoted to golf, motoring 20 miles to the Brownsville links, through a cold, damp north that had broken up his jumpy fishing off Point Isabel. Despite the disagreeable weather, he tramped over the muddy course for 18 holes.

HOME BREW CRUSADE REPORTS CONFIRMED

Means to Be Employed by Prohibition Enforcement Agents Are Not Revealed, However

Washington, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press)—The internal revenue bureau today confirmed reports that it is taking steps to enforce the prohibition law by means of a campaign of "home brewing" in the United States. The bureau is expected to announce the details of its plan in the near future.

The so-called home brewed beer, manufactured in the home for beverage purposes, even though for the sole use of the family and bona fide guests, is under the bureau's construction of the law, illegal and the sale of material for the purpose of such manufacture is likewise illegal.

Commissioner Kramer still was absent from the city tonight and no authoritative statement of the nature of such instructions as he had already issued in the anti-home brew campaign was obtainable. The statement of the federal prohibition director of Ohio, however, that he had received instructions from Mr. Kramer to prevent sales of malt and hops except to bakers and to confectioners has not been denied by the internal revenue bureau, although it is understood that Commissioner Williams has not yet approved these specific orders.

There was no apparent difference of opinion between officials of the bureau of internal revenue and Commissioner Kramer's staff of advisors after the powers granted under the Volstead act with respect to prohibition of the sale of articles employed in the manufacture of beer at home, was announced by Commissioner Williams during the day with a familiar with the act and this was followed by numerous conferences with the bureau, the nature of which was not disclosed.

The only information obtainable at prohibition headquarters indicated that the orders restricting the sale of malt and hops, to which the Ohio director referred, were in the form of confidential instructions sent to all enforcement officers. This method is commonly employed by Commissioner Kramer in all orders issued, no publicity being given to them except in unusual cases.

Notwithstanding the assertion of internal revenue officials that they knew nothing of the specific order, it was persistently reported that at least one official had been consulted regarding the advisability of sending it through the routine to make it a formal treasury decision. When such orders become a treasury record they are revocable only by the secretary of the treasury or court order.

Commissioner Williams' statement declared it had "never been the purpose of the internal revenue bureau to interfere with any legitimate business," but added that there appeared to have been a misunderstanding as to the right to manufacture malt liquors even for home consumption.

"In connection with the so-called home brewed beer," the statement continued, "the impression seems to prevail among some people that malt liquors which ordinarily are or may be used in the manufacture of intoxicating liquors may be sold freely and legally, even though sold for the purpose of making intoxicating liquors, such transactions of course are illegal if the law and regulations with reference to such manufacture are complied with."

The commissioner cited provisions of the law which states specifically that articles and contrabands intended to be used in the manufacture of liquors cannot be sold, except under permit. It was indicated the prohibition officials believed the law could regulate the sale of malt and hops under these provisions.

After Mr. Darriguenave had left the scene, Judge Advocate Dyer announced he had no further witnesses. The court then adjourned to reassemble upon call by Admiral Henry T. Mayo, president of the board of inquiry, and it is not probable another session will be held before next week.

The Haitian president, with democratic simplicity, walked from the police to the court room, climbing the two flights of stairs. He expressed his pleasure in informing the United States government what he knew. Answering a direct question if he had knowledge regarding alleged indiscriminate killing, he said:

"I have heard of reports of such a nature perpetrated at Hicte, St. Marc, Croix des Bouquets, Grande Riviere, Nord, Mirebalais and Les Cayes. When I have been in the government I have never kept the government informed of all that was being said, the manner, rightly or wrongly, has been they were afraid of being caught by martial law. Victims of their parents have never brought their grievances to me because leaders of the revolution made them to understand there was no Haitian chief of state."

DAY OF THANKS IS PROCLAIMED

President Wilson Sets Aside Thursday, November 25, For Thanksgiving and Prayer

BLESSINGS ARE MANY

"In Plenty, Security and Peace,
Our People Face the Future," Proclamation Declares

Washington, Nov. 12.—President Wilson issued his Thanksgiving proclamation tonight saying that in plenty, security and peace, our people face the future and setting aside Thursday, November 25, for the usual observances.

The proclamation says that it indicates us to turn from the distractions and preoccupations of our daily life that we may contemplate the mercies which have been vouchsafed to us and render heartfelt and unfeigned thanks unto God for his manifold goodness.

"This is an old observance of the American people, deeply imbedded in our thoughts and habits. The burdens and the stresses of life have their own insistence."

"We have abundant cause for thanksgiving. The great army of freedom which America sent to the defense of liberty returning to the grateful embrace of the nation have resumed the useful pursuits of peace, as simply and as promptly as it rushed to arms in obedience to the country's call. The equal justice of our laws has received steady vindication in the support of law-abiding people against various and sinister attacks, which have reflected only the baser aspirations of war now happily passing."

"In plenty, security and peace, our virtuous and self-relying people face the future, its duties and its opportunities. May we have vision to discern our duties; the strength both of hand and resolve, to discharge them and the soundness of heart to realize the trust opportunities are those of service."

"In a spirit then of devotion and stewardship we should give thanks for our hearts and dedicate ourselves to the service of God's merciful and loving purposes to his children."

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the 25th day of November next as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer and I call upon my countrymen to cease from their ordinary tasks and vocations upon that day, giving it up to the remembrance of God and his blessings and their dutiful and grateful acknowledgment."

Notwithstanding the assertion of internal revenue officials that they knew nothing of the specific order, it was persistently reported that at least one official had been consulted regarding the advisability of sending it through the routine to make it a formal treasury decision. PRICES CONTINUE TO CRUMBLE AWAY

List Is Carried to Its Lowest Level of Year by Involuntary Liquidation Which Ensues

New York, Nov. 12. — Quoted values in the stock market continued to crumble today, selling for both accounts, in which involuntary liquidation probably predominated, carrying the list to lowest levels of the year. In several noteworthy instances today's prices were the lowest for a much longer period. United States Steel declined to $24, an extreme loss of 1 1/2% and the minimum since 1917. Many popular shares were 25 to 40 points under maximums of a few months ago.

Gross recessions of three to ten points for the session marked the extensive offerings of shipping, equipment, motors, oils and various specialties whose rise and fall were involved in the movement of the more distinctive issues.

Aside from the money market, in which yesterday's promise of greater ease was not fulfilled, there were no new developments or happenings to account for the further collapse of the stock market.

Selling of stocks was at its flood in the final hour, the reaction then involving dividend paying rails, especially Pacifics and coalters, Reading making a net decline of 6 1/2 points. Other net losses of two to five points, including Bethlehem, Baldwin, Atlantic Gulf, American International, Marine preferred, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Canadian Pacific. Mexican Petroleum and Central Electric overtopped the list, losing six and three-fourths and nine points, respectively.

Bonds were not especially affected by the break in stocks, although all Liberty issues and various convertible rails eased. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

O. H. S. GIRLS VICTORIOUS.

Win Their First Game of Season Last Night at Hartwick Seminary.

In its first game of the season, the Oneonta High School Girls' team won a notable victory at Hartwick Seminary last night, defeating a team made up of the fair sex of the seminary, 13 to 5. Coach Laverne Trinkle had given his seminary squad much practice during the past week, in preparation for the "big game," and as a result things started off pretty fast, with neither team having much of an advantage. At the end of the first half the score stood 3-3, but in the last round the seminary girls weakened and the Oneonta stars had no trouble in carrying off the game.

The O. H. S. team was made up, practically the same as last year and as a consequence the girls played well together, their pass work being especially commendable. Rider, Oneonta's star forward, got nine of the 13 points made by her team, while Allen made two field baskets. Parker was the other forward, while Mills and Miller played a good game as guards. The score follows:

THE GREAT ACCIDENT

BY BEN AMES WILLIAMS

FROM THE SATURDAY EVENING POST STORY

How did it happen? How did "Wint" Chase, the good-for-nothing son of a severely upright father, suddenly become the mayor of his town? And why did this reckless young scamp suddenly brace up, shake off his sins and proceed to sweep the town clear of crooks and grafters and hypocrites?

It was "a great accident"—the kind of accident that sometimes is sent from heaven. Come and revel in a real picture.

DELAWARE CELEBRATES

PEOPLE FROM ALL TOWNS FLOCK TO SIDNEY FOR ARMISTICE DAY EVENTS.

At the parade, the football game between Sidney and Walton, prize sports, events, and dancing among the features of the day. Sidney, Nov. 12. — Sidney had its largest celebration in years Thursday.

Armistice day, it paralleling that of two years ago when news that the world war had ended first reached the village. Early in the morning the crowds commenced to arrive from all the surrounding towns and there was a steady stream of autos all day long. Walton had the largest visiting delegation at the celebration, bringing along its football team and band. There were also large numbers of people from Delhi, Masonville, Bainbridge, Unadilla, Sidney Center, Guilford and other towns of the vicinity, so that in all there were more than 1,500 visitors for the day. This, combined with Sidney's own population, which turned out in full force, made one of the biggest crowds ever seen on the streets of Sidney. All business and mercantile establishments, and factories, were closed for the day, and everybody joined in celebrating the second anniversary of the end of the war.

The officer of the day was Carl

Chrisman who opened the events with the firemen's inspection at 9 a. m. A half hour later, W. D. Williams took charge of the sports, which included everything from a hundred yard dash to a pie-eating contest. Merchants of the villages had liberally donated prizes for the winners in these contests, and some of the races were closely fought.

There was a large number of former service men in Sidney for the day and they were the guests of honor. In order that they would not go hungry, a "free chow" was served at 11 o'clock by the Ladies' auxiliary to the American legion. The event that gave one an idea of the immense number of people in the town was the parade, which was formed in the early afternoon and marched through the principal streets of the village. American legion posts and bands from Sidney, Unadilla, Walton and Afton were in the line of march, not to mention numerous citizens. Practically every business establishment in Sidney had a float in the parade, and they were of an unusually high order.

Interest ran high over the football game which followed the parade. Teams from Sidney and Walton, old-time rivals, came together and in a rough and hard-fought battle played to a tie, 7-7. The evening was given over to dancing, three separate dances being held, and thus came to a close one of the biggest and most successful celebrations which Sidney has ever witnessed.

NEARLY KILLED BY INDIGESTION

Restored To Vigorous Health By FRUIT-A-LIVES

CHAS. F. HARTWELL

South Royalton, Vermont. "About three years ago I began to suffer with indigestion. Food soured in my stomach, causing me to belch; and I had terrible heart burn, with pains in my chest and arms. My heart became affected; I had shortness of breath; the action of my kidneys was irregular, the secretions scanty and scalding.

I was knocked out, and good for nothing, when I read about Fruit-A-Lives and sent for a box. I used a few and thought, well they will turn out like all the other remedies I have tried but to my surprise and gladness, I noticed improvement and I continued the use of Fruit-A-Lives. (or Fruit Liver Tablets) with the result that a dozen boxes made me feel like a different person."

MAINTAIN ABOUT ONEONTA.
The Armistice Day

Thursday of the present week, November 11, in the United States, but in the world over had peculiar significance since it was the second anniversary of what from the cessation of hostilities in the great war has come to be known as Armistice day. And in most of the world of the times, and particularly in the United States, there was dignified and proper observance of the occasion, a meeting of citizens, the music of bands, speeches by men of local or of wider prominence, and with recognition in one sense joyful and in another solemn, of what by the struggle of preceding years was attained, and what loss there was of human life in that great struggle.

That there was no formal observance of the day in Oneonta is to be regretted. There are few towns of its size which sent out a larger proportion of its young men — though, in fact, whatever might have been true of the allies in Europe, the conflict was to us in America a young man's war and there are few which watched day by day during the great battles of the Argonne and around Chateau Thierry with greater interest or a more consuming dread. Few there were which rejoiced more wholeheartedly on that memorable morning two years before, and few which welcomed its sons back with more acclaim. In the brief interval the work they did has not been forgotten.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that another year, when numerous causes unnecessary to enumerate shall not as this season prove deterrent, there will be early preparation for a suitable observance, dignified and sane — as fitting the great event to some extent solemn — as in memory of a date which even to Americans must rank second only to the Day of Independence.

Bonfires and Like Observance

And in this connection it is not amiss to note that in coming celebrations of Armistice day the city could well get along without the midnight ringing of bells, the unauthorized sounding of fire alarms and the burning of big bonfires, with accompanying discordant noises, or the principal streets. There is general sympathy for lads in the embers of youthful spirits, and two years ago there was good reason why everybody, when the news of ended war flashed under seas, should overstep the usual bounds of decorum. But this is not reason for untimely noise, bonfires, from piffered boxes, or other demonstrations out of the ordinary in years to come. It is hoped, therefore, that another November will not be accompanied by some of the things which distinguished last Thursday; and perhaps the best way to avoid such recurrence will be to arrange beforehand for the right kind of Armistice day.

The Red Cross Canvass

The attention of residents of Oneonta is called to the canvass for Red Cross membership which will begin on Monday morning. The cause is one which should appeal to every citizen. Its purpose is understood by all, and the memory of its accomplishments will endure as long as the mind of man turns to deeds of kindness and of mercy.

As is known the membership fee is small, only one dollar—and there are few who cannot afford this reasonable outlay. The money will be used not in any narrow way as charity but in the accomplishment of essential public service. The Fourth Red Cross Roll Call is not a drive. It is an opportunity for present members to renew that membership and for new members to join, and the amount of money secured is of importance in the number of members.

It is therefore hoped and it is believed that the canvass for the present roll call will be successful throughout, and that the number of members enrolled will be large. The Red Cross is not over a year old. It is for all times and for all lands and conditions of human life.

A Man Faithful to Duty

By the death of Mr. J. Zeh, who on Tuesday last expired at his home at this city after a long illness, Oneonta loses a citizen who takes with him the reputation of being a man who ever worked earnest and faithfully to duty. For a period of fifteen years he had been in the service of the Oneonta school, and ever since the erection of the present high school building has been its engineer. It was a position which demanded natural ability, good judgment and a valuable plant, and, in his relations with the many with whom as friendly and pupils he came in touch, his patience and uniform courtesy. To him will be filled this day with a sense of loss in which the school community itself upon having his long services—the members of the local education, the faculty and the pupils of many years uniformly bear testimony.

His work was of importance, and it was done painstakingly and efficiently. To his last resting place he takes the respect, confidence and honor of an acquaintance wider than that of many

BOOST SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

Otsego Farmer and Freeman's Journal. Find Greater Income Imperative.

Cooperstown's two weekly newspapers, the Otsego Farmer and Freeman's Journal, announce in their issues this week that they are compelled to increase their subscription price from $1.50 to $2.

The fact may not be known to our readers," says the Journal, "and yet it is true, at the prevailing price of print paper, the actual cost of sufficient blank paper to print one copy of the Freeman's Journal for one year is $1.12. A few years ago, blank newspaper could be bought for two cents a pound. Now the price quoted is 16 cents a pound, in addition to the freight and handling.

"With this situation confronting the publishers, together with the increase in wages and every item that enters into the manufacture of a newspaper, it is no longer possible to print a country weekly for $1.50 per year and pay expenses."

The Otsego Farmer has similar views on the publishing situation, which vitally affects every newspaper in the country.

Efficient housekeepers realize that because it is necessary to use only half as much Baker's Certified Extracts would still be more economical if they cost twice as much.

Journey
As we go on, my friend,
Down the long way,
Let each some music lend,
Care to allay.
For, when our chiming starts,
Straightway we're strong
Healing for weary hearts,
Dwells in a song.
—Pierre Shelds.

—Rev. H. H. Wahl of Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, will occupy the pulpit of the Lutheran church tomorrow morning. He will undoubtedly tell of some of his experiences in the north.

—Company G indoor baseball team will meet at the armory on Monday evening to play the Wanderers and a good game is promised. Admission is free and the public is invited to witness the game.

—The Lane Electric shop had an attractive electrical display in the window of its new store at 246 Main street yesterday, and announced that the shop would be open for business there next Monday.

—The public market is announced for this morning at the usual place on Market street. With the advent of winter, but few markets are likely to be held, and patrons will do well to avail themselves of the last chances.

—The first social session of the season will be held at the Elks club this evening. Plenty of amusement and one of those good "feels" for which the Elks are noted. If you want an evening of amusement and jollity, be among those present.

—Chairman Ingram, of the Red Cross Roll Call, urges all merchants to co-operate in next week's enrollment canvass by displaying Red Cross posters at conspicuous places in their stores and show windows. "Still the Greatest Mother of Them All," the new 1920 poster, is a beautiful work of art.

—Remember the union memorial service at the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7:30, in honor of the young men who gave their lives for their country during the World war. Adon Brownell of Pittsburgh, a former Oneonta boy, will be the principal speaker. The public is invited.

The Normal and Public Schools Lecture and Musical Course committee presents the Grand Opera and Concert quartet at the High school Monday evening, at 8:15 o'clock. Patrons who have not made reservations for the season may reserve seats for this special number without additional charge by presenting their season ticket at the store of Ralph W. Murdoch, Oneonta Hotel block, after 5 o'clock today. The management must positively decline to guarantee seats to patrons who do not make the trouble to secure these free reservations. The price of the season ticket is too low to insure anything more than standing room. No sale to the general public until Monday.

Will Be Presented Sunday Afternoon at Oneonta Theatre Under Auspices of Oneonta Elks. With Address by Dr. George J. Dana—Public Invited.

Tomorrow is Red Cross Sunday and in addition to the reference to the day and the annual Roll Call the coming week, which will be made in the churches of the city, the Oneonta Elks have arranged for an attractive showing of official Red Cross films at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Oneonta theatre, the management having generously donated the building, light and heat, the orchestra members their services and the attaches of the theatre their assistance at the exercises, which promise to be of a most interesting character. Not only Elks, their families and friends, but all citizens are cordially invited to witness the pictures.

The films, one of which was shown at the theatre yesterday, are excellent and picture much of interest in addition to the activities of the organization. They are known as Red Cross films and are sent here by that organization to aid in the enrollment of citizens in the Red Cross organization during the week to come.

To assist in making the afternoon one of profit for all who attend, Dr. George J. Dana has consented to deliver an address, which will be upon a theme in harmony with the day and the project launched for the week following. Dr. Dana, always an interesting and entertaining speaker, will be at his best when speaking upon Red Cross service and the theatre should be filled to overflowing to hear him and to see the pictures.

Red Cross workers and the reception committee of the Elks will be present to welcome those attending. The theatre will open at 2:30 o'clock and the performance will commence at 3 o'clock.

Mission at St. Mary's Church.

Special missions, conducted by Fathers Dailey and Devine, of the converts' organization of New York city, are now being held at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, and are being largely attended. The services for women close tonight, and next week will be devoted to men's meetings, conducted every day at 5 a. m., 7:30 a. m. and 10:30 p. m. Every service witnesses St. Mary's filled to overflowing with church people and the mission is proving very successful. In addition to the men's services next week, there will be children's meetings Sunday, Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 4 o'clock.

Yep, It Looks Like Winter.
Snow flurries in the city yesterday reminded Oneontans that winter is on the way, and the cold, biting wind kept the streets pretty well cleared of pedestrians, most people venturing out only when they found it necessary.

Main street last evening, with snow flakes covering the sidewalks, was almost deserted and reminded one of mid-winter, only there were not the three-foot snow banks. The day was without question the coldest thus far this fall and winter wraps were quite in vogue.

Ashamed to Scream.
We learn that French working people have voluntarily gone back to a nine-hour day and have reclaimed over 6,000,000 acres of their land, rendered useless by the war, while here in America, abandoned farms and lands, doing as little as we can, getting all we can and spending all we can, is the main idea. Unless we change our ways, the American eagle will be ashamed to scream next Fourth of July. Well, I'm trying to get pep into people by giving little fellows a fair chance and a square deal, in making a measly $10 per month safely roll up to 2,000 bucks, make rent money pay for homes and farms and thus get our abandoned farms back to production.

I'm playing the live and let live game and have done it to the tune of several million dollars, am now thus safely rolling up three million more, but if a great mass of thoughtless people won't see a hole in a ladder, they must take their medicine and then growl and whine later. I am the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association.

YELLOW DOG SAVES FAMILY

WHEN FARM HOUSE OF DORR MORELL AT SOUTH WORCESTER, TER BURNS TO GROUND.

Mother, Awakened by Faithful Dog, Manages to Arouse Nine Children Who Escape in Night Clothes—House and Contents Destroyed—Insurance Light.

The faithful yellow dog of Dorrell of South Worcester aroused the family and saved their lives when a fire which destroyed the farm house broke out at 3:30 o'clock Friday morning. The father was away doing threshing for neighboring farmers. The mother was awakened by the barking and scratching at the door of her sleeping room by the dog and it was with some difficulty that she managed to arouse the nine children, as the house was full of smoke. They escaped in their night clothes. A few pieces only of household furniture were gotten out.

It is supposed that the fire caught from an overheated stovepipe passing through the ceiling of the first floor, although the house was so full of smoke that the mother's attention was given entirely to getting the children out. When they were all aroused and out, it was impossible to do more than reach a few pieces nearby a door.

In addition to the furniture and wearing apparel, the cellar was well stocked, containing 400 bushels of potatoes and 75 bushels of apples and other vegetables and supplies for winter use.

At one time it was feared that the barns would be destroyed and the herd of cattle was turned out of the buildings. The fire was however kept confined to the house and the other buildings saved. Mr. Morell had an insurance of $750 upon the house and contents, which about covers the loss in the cellar.

Mr. Morell was in the city yesterday making some purchases for the immediate needs of the family and at Woolworth's store, where he called, he stated that he could not find a piece of cloth in the morning large enough to use for straining his milk.

Men's Parliament Begins Tomorrow.
The 1920-21 session of the Men's Parliament of the First Presbyterian church will open tomorrow at the close of the usual morning service. The discussions this winter embrace an earnest and untrammeled examination of the apostolic church, its origin and history, and the application of its principles to the church of today. The parliament has been the principal feature of church life among the men during the past few years, and indications point to still more interesting discussions during the coming weeks.

TO AID CHILD FEEDING FUND

Chamber of Commerce Encores Literary Digest Project and Asks Star to Receive Contributions—Lighting Town Clock and Improved Illumination of Main Street Vindict Cried.

Authorization for The Star to receive and acknowledge contributions to The Literary Digest child-feeding fund for the relief of 2,500,000 starving children in central and south-eastern Europe was requested in a telegram sent last night to the national weekly by Oneonta Chamber of Commerce, after the Chamber's board of directors had decided upon this method of bringing the noteworthy fund to the attention of citizens.

In resolutions adopted at the directors' meeting the Literary Digest fund was endorsed and the interest of the people of Oneonta solicited for the welfare of the destitute European children. Herbert Hoover asked the magazine to start the movement and President-elect Harding, although not a rich man, contributed $2,500 two days after his election.

If permission to receive funds from local contributors is received today or tomorrow from The Literary Digest, this fact will be announced in the columns of The Star Monday morning and all wishing to donate to this fund, may mail their checks to this office. Acknowledgement of contributions will be made daily.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce at the meeting last evening outlined a number of activities to be undertaken immediately by the organization, the program for the coming year recently drafted from suggestions by members to be held in abeyance pending the membership campaign to be inaugurated in January.

The illumination of the town clock was one of the projects suggested for early action and the committee named to act upon that movement consists of C. C. Miller, J. J. Gessner and Fred M. Baker.

Improvements in the illumination of the main street viaduct was another suggested action. The committee named to act for the chamber in that matter consists of Eugene L. Ward, Fred N. VanWick and A. O. Ingelham.

A large number of people are patronizing the new interest department recently established at the Wilber National bank. This bank is also renting a large number of safety deposit boxes to people who wish to protect their valuables from fire and thieves.

D. & H. RECOGNIZES GUARD.

Company Will Pay Employees While on Duty, J. T. Loeve Announces.

That employees of the Delaware and Hudson company who are members of the National Guard will be paid by the railroad company while they are on duty is indicated in a letter which F. W. Woodworth of Saratoga Springs, a member of Company L, has received from J. T. Loeve, general manager of the railroad. In it Mr. Loeve says:

"To interest and encourage enlistment of our young able-bodied employees in the various National Guards and in military affairs, the Delaware and Hudson company has granted our listed men annual leaves of absence, consisting of two weeks to attend military encampments and rifle ranges. Further, it has been arranged this year to grant married men, full difference between the allowance given them by the state and the amount their wages would have been for the period concerned, and single men one-half the difference. In line with this policy, I am enclosing herewith vouchers to cover a statement of time lost you lost recently on account of attend military encampment and take this opportunity to express the gratification of the Delaware and Hudson company for the spirit you have displayed."

AN HISTORIC TRAY.

Knickerbocker Society Gets Tray Given Laurens Men by Assembly.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 12.—The Knickerbocker Historical society has received a tray of historical material from the assembly of the late Mrs. George Perkins, daughter of the society.

One of the most notable items in the collection is a silver tray which was presented to Mrs. S. Chatfield, father of Mrs. George Craig of this city, who was a member of the New York State assembly from Oswego county from 1892 to 1912, and was speaker of the assembly in the latter year, when the tray was presented to him. The latter became attorney general. While an assemblyman, Mr. Chatfield was a real-estate of Laurens and a leading lawyer of the county.

The tray was designed and engraved by C. C. Wright. In the center is engraved the scene of the signing of the declaration of Independence and about the picture is engraved the text of the document. Three medallion portraits of George Washington, Daniel Webster and Henry Clay and elaborate scroll work, which entirely covers the surface of the tray, complete the design.

The tray was presented by Mrs. Craig to Mrs. Perkins some years ago. It will be placed on exhibition at Municipal museum.

Just arrived—Another shipment of The Love Nest, Columbia record, No. 2955. Fred N. VanWine.

WEST END SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. George Foulston Entertains Loyal Workers Class at Her Home.

Mrs. George Foulston very delightfully entertained the Loyal Workers of the Elm Park Methodist church at her home at the Junction on Wednesday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon, the regular monthly business meeting of the class was held, following which a delicious covered dish luncheon was served to about 75 ladies and gentlemen. Mrs. Foulston then gave her guests a pleasing surprise when she invited them to spend the evening with her. The time was enjoyably passed with games and music and so quickly did the hours fly that it was not until midnight that the happy gathering departed for their homes after thanking Mrs. Foulston for her hospitality and assuring her that she was an excellent entertainer.

LISTEN LESTER NOV. 19.

Musical Comedy "That Delighted One-act Last Spring Coming Again."

A real tonic is "Listen Lester," the musical comedy which John Cort presents at Hathaway's Oneonta theatre Friday night, November 19th, potent, pleasant to the taste and smell and sight, and a sure cure for all the ills that flesh is heir to—and for an entire year at the Knickerbocker theatre in New York it helped to build up the morale of the theatre-going public. It comes under the "musical comedy" head of tonics, concocted by Harry L. Cort, George E. Stoddard and Harold Orlob, and John Cort gave it the final mixing which makes it so excellent and effective. The ingredients are breezy dialogue, an amusing story, bubbly music, artistic staging, beautiful costumes, effervescent dancing, with a brilliant cast of Broadway favorites headed by Gus Shy to administer it, and the daintiest, danciest chorus to give it that stimulating quality so necessary, and the whole is a perfect blend calculated to send you forth feeling fit and ready to tackle anything and everything. Same company seen here last season.

THREE VACANT LOTS SOLD.

Numerous Bidders Attend Annual Tax Sale Conducted by City Chamberlain.

Although when first advance notice of the city chamberlain's tax sale was given, there were 21 lots that were to be sold, only three remained unsold when Chamberlain C. H. Bowdish conducted the sale in the city court chambers on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Despite the few lots that were offered for sale, there was an unusually large number of bidders at the auction, and there was considerable rivalry for the possession of the three properties, which were finally disposed of as follows:

Lot 54, Argo street; last known owner, S. M. Brown estate; taxes unpaid, $5.23. Bid off by George B. Baird of Oneonta for $135.

Vacant lot on Central avenue; last known owner, Almira Enslin; taxes unpaid, $1.15. Bid off by E. E. Stebbins of Davenport Center for $25.

Lot 22, VanWoert avenue; last known owner, D. L. Hicks; taxes unpaid, 69 cents. Bid off by E. Melhorn of Oneonta for $21.

At the close of the sale, the purchasers paid the amount of their respective bids, and received certificates describing the land purchased. After the expiration of two years from the date of the sale, the purchasers will be entitled to receive conveyances of the land they purchased, unless the original owners shall have redeemed the taxes due, with interest at the rate of ten percent per annum. It is doubtful if any of the three lots sold will be redeemed, as the whereabouts of at least two of the owners is unknown.

Real Estate Transactions.

The Ceperley-Morgan Real Estate Company, Inc., has sold the past week two of the modern cottages it is building on Pleasant avenue, West End, one to David L. Bouten, and the other to Nelson Hawkins. Possession in both cases as soon as finished. Of the four being built by the company, only one now remains unsold.

Considering the economy in using Hygrade Brand butterine, and considering its purity and deliciousness, it is not surprising that it is demanded by housekeepers who are at once prudent and particular.

MY LETTER

Says Mrs. Orenstein, So Other Suffering Women May Learn How to Get Well.

Chicago, Ill.—I suffered for four years with pains in my sides, hips and legs and a terrible backache. I could not do any work at all. I was treated by many physicians, but they did not help me. I read in one of your books where other women had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I tried it and it helped me. I can do everything in the house. I have told my friends about your wonderful Vegetable Compound and you have my permission to publish my letter so other women who suffer may learn how to get well.—Mrs. Ida Orenstein, 962 S. Marshall Ave., Chicago, Ill.

This good old fashioned remedy is made from native roots and herbs and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Two Drunks in Custody.

Patrolman Cross arrested one Patrick Dailey on Broad street yesterday morning on a charge of public intoxication. When arraigned later in the day before City Judge Huntington, he pleaded guilty and was fined $3 and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail at Cooperstown, to which institution he is now confined.

William Fitzpatrick, who when arrested a few weeks ago won the title of "the million dollar drunk," owing to his material prosperity, was taken into custody again Thursday at midnight by Patrolman Simmons. After enjoying a rest in the city lockup, he was brought before Judge Huntington, to whom he pleaded guilty. He departed minus a $10 bill.
